Harvey McQueen have been supplying both temporary and permanent staff to the IT & Telecoms sector for the past ten years.

Our clients include multinational companies across the UK who are responsible for the communications network across the whole country. These clients demand the highest level of service, and the quality of candidates is paramount.

We specialise in not only finding the right technical staff, but the person that's also ideally suited to your company culture. We have a proven track record of filling ANY vacancy that you may have, regardless of the size of business.

What our clients say:

We always count on Harvey McQueen to deliver quality staffing, regardless of the role, salary and timescale. We have worked with Harvey McQueen for over ten years across the whole of the UK and continue to be impressed by the speed and quality of their recruitment processes.

As a leader in multinational communications, we have found Harvey McQueen's service to be exceptional, and would recommend their services to any IT business looking to recruit in any sector.
